Telegraphic transfer - terms and conditions

- Under arrangements we have with Western Union Business Solutions (Australia) Pty Ltd ACN 150 129 749 (Western Union), telegraphic transfers will be sent to the beneficiary's account via Western Union. However, this service is provided to you by Credit Union SA and Western Union has no responsibility or liability to you for the provision of financial services to you or any loss of any kind whatsoever (including consequential loss and expense) arising in connection thereto.
- You are responsible for the completeness and accuracy of the details you provide to us in relation to a telegraphic transfer. If you do not provide the correct information, your payment may be rejected or may be credited to a person other than your intended beneficiary, even if that account is not in the name of the stipulated beneficiary. We will not generally be able to recover a payment made in error.
- We accept no liability for any loss of any kind whatsoever (including any consequential loss and expense) arising from errors or omissions in the payment details that you supply to us.
- If you request a telegraphic transfer, we will provide you with a quote. Your acceptance of a quote will constitute your instruction and authorisation to us to immediately debit the value of your telegraphic transfer (in Australian dollars) from the account you have nominated (including the applicable fees and charges payable to us) and to transfer funds to the account of the beneficiary.
- Telegraphic transfers are processed using intermediary banks determined by Western Union. The majority of overseas banks levy other processing charges that vary between banks / countries, which may be deducted from the amount received by the beneficiary.
- A transaction confirmation does not signify that the telegraphic transfer has been received into the account of the beneficiary. Western Union's overseas bank will normally receive the transfer of funds within 24 hours and, if it is not the beneficiary bank, may take any normal length of time to on forward the funds to the beneficiary's bank.
- We will not be responsible for any delays in transmission or payment howsoever caused and accept no liability for any loss of any kind whatsoever (including any consequential loss and expense) caused by any such delay. We will not be responsible for any loss arising from the beneficiary bank's failure or delay in advising the beneficiary of a credit to their account.
